THE OLDEST COLLEGE DAILY · FOUNDED 1878

Yale Daily News

NEW HAVEN, CONNECTICUT · WEDNESDAY, APRIL 1, 2026 · VOL. CXLVIII, NO. 69 · by Yale Daily News Production & Design

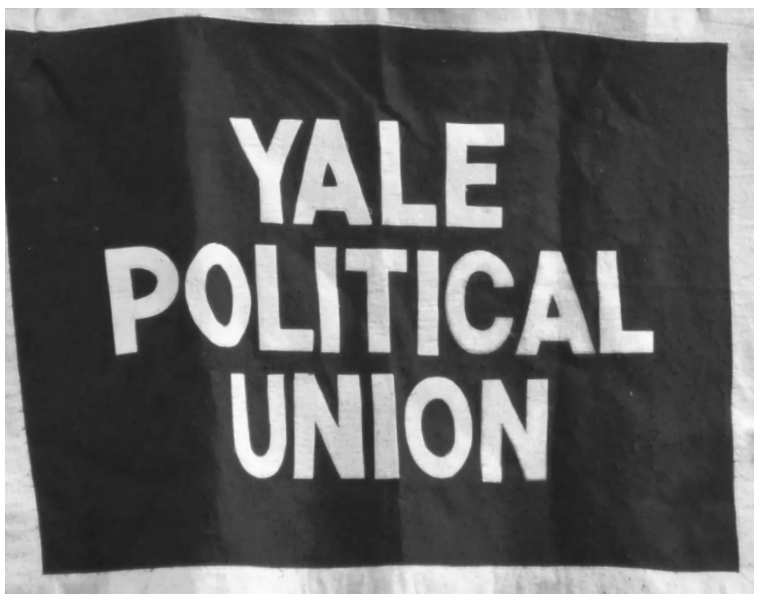
President McInnis to attend speech therapy after forgetting how to talk to students

"I hope to resolve this medical issue very soon," McInnis wrote in a statement she gave to an assistant who passed it along to a trustee whose spokesperson communicated it to the News.

Dean Lewis turns blind eye to student petition: 'I have hot sauce in my eyes'

Despite his inability to respond to the petition, Lewis promised the hot sauce incident would be completely forgotten very quickly.

New class on protecting child trafficking victims to be taught by David Gelernter



COMING UP

LEO to host YPU-style debate with Theta guests on the question of whether the clitoris exists

The debate will incorporate opening and closing speeches as well as a mansplaining segment.

New psychological study finds that destroying students' GPAs makes you feel better about your divorce

The study also found that making students miserable enough to abandon the pre-med track improved chances of retaining custody of your children.

Yale admin adopts pro-hazing policy, as response to non-compliance

"It just seemed easier than actual enforcement," said a University spokesperson.

Inside The News

An announcement from the developers of the app Fizz says that all posts will become retroactively non-anonynmous in early April 2026.

PAGE 2 STUDENT LIFE

PAGE 3 DATA

PAGE 3 ADMIN

PAGE 3 ACADEMICS

PAGE 4 SPORTS

PAGE 4 OPINION

COLLEGES INTRODUCE NEW INTRAMURAL SPORT: Sidewalk Slow-Walker Slalom

This is a work of satire created by the Production & Design desk of the Yale Daily News.

This Day in Yale History, 1981

A fistfight broke out in Linsly-Chittenden Hall during a speech by Yale alumnus Bill Clinton after a first-year named Ron DeSantis strongly disagreed with Clinton's take on the talk topic, "Gay Son or Thot Daughter."