North Haven Conservation Commission
Thank You

To The Editor: April 22, 2026
North Haven Conservation Commission would like to thank all the organizations/vendors, volunteers and North Haven High School Key Club members who participated in the North Haven Earth Day Celebration on April 18th at the Park & Rec Center.

It takes many people to make an event successful. North Haven is fortunate to have so many who care enough about their community to have made this happen. Special thanks to Andy Delvecchio with the Park & Rec. Department for all his help.

Sandy Stetson, NHCC Secretary

The Slambovian Circus Of Dreams
Returns To Small Batch Cellars

North Haven: The Slambovian Circus of Dreams returns to Small Batch Cellars on Sunday, May 3, at 4 PM. The Small Batch Cellars are at 37 Nettleton Avenue, in North Haven, CT 06473. Tickets are available at www.eventbrite.com/e/slambovian-circus-of-dreams-art-school-americana-tickets-1986803846789. The venue phone is 424-722-9463.

Explore the depths of Americana "one trippy tune at a time" with New York's Slambovian Circus of Dreams. Voted "Best Band" by NY's Chronogram Magazine for their rootsy, rockin' psychedelia and fantastic stories and songs, the Slambovians' deep connection with audiences and exciting live shows are legendary. Woodstock-tinged Americana blends a cool mix of southern rock, Celtic and British folk combined with solid songwriting – a slice of Americana pie that is irresistible! Influences of Dylan, Bowie, Syd Barrett, Tom Petty, and The Band are there, yet the Slambovians' musicianship and critically acclaimed songwriting stand on their own.

Joziyah Longo (resident shaman of Slambovia), leads with vocals described as "soothing and bewitching as a snake oil tonic." Longtime bandmates Tink Lloyd (accordion, cello, mandolin, flute) and guitarist/ mandolin wizard Sharkey McEwen bring their own magic to the Slambovian brew with "a little help from their friends" - RJ McCarty (keys, bass, sax), Bob Torsello (bass), and Matthew Abourezk (drums).

The band's last release, "A Very Unusual Head" is considered to be "their finest work to date" (Rock'n'Reel Magazine, UK). Listen on Spotify: Spotify.com/slambovia

Quinnipiac Big Event Day

Wallingford: Quinnipiac University students participated in The Big Event at the annual spring clean up of the Wallingford Senior Center's Agnes B Campos Bird and Butterfly Garden. The Memorial Garden was initiated by Roman Mrozinski, former director of the Southwest Conservation District and CT Master Gardeners.

The garden was prepped by Roman Mrozinski with the cutting back of the appropriate shrubs and ornamental grasses to be cleaned and deposited for Wallingford Public Works pickup and disposal. WSC director Ann Zak helped coordinate the event. Supervisory support was from Roman Mrozinski and Wallingford Garden Club members Ellie Tessmer and Martha Shea. Agnes B Campos memorial stone was installed in the pollinator garden.

This year 14 QU students participated in the clean up: Molly Ann O'Malley, Senior in Computer Science; Elisa DeWitt, Senior in Finance; Ni Sykes, Junior in Marketing; Scarlett Kelley, Sophomore in Medical Science; Jules Madella, Senior in Political Science; Kaitlyn Sternhardt, Senior in Psychology; Mia Gongalez, Sophomore in Pol. Science/Law/Society; Savannah
